HILLCREST DAHLIAS are grown in the Hills of West Virginia, where the climate and soil are ideal for Dahlia culture.

It is the object of the Hillcrest Gardens to produce stock that will grow anywhere, but we must have your co-operation in this. See that your soil tests P. H. 7. O. or near so. Have soil aerated with horse manure or some cover crop, as the organism of the roots must throw off carbon dioxide the same as the human animal. If you want to grow Exhibition Dahlias do not use cow, sheep or chicken manure. No manure is a fertilizer of any consequence.

Get a copy of the Mid-West Dahlia News, Volume 2, Number 4, which contains an analysis of the Dahlia ash, showing what mineral salts the Dahlia thrives on.

Color descriptions are taken from the latest dictionary of color.

We ship roots any time after Dec. 15th.

Imported from Kurt Englehart's Garden,
Dresden, Germany, the following are acclimated and well worth growing :

- G 11. Trauer Um Langemarck.....Roots only...$5.00
- G 12. Gartendirektor Anlauf. ....Roots only... 5.00
- G 13. Panthom..... Roots only... 5.00

All other foreign dahlias were pulled up and destroyed as our gardens are not interested in commercial varieties.

Hillcrest Gardens produced this year twenty-five seedlings that will score 85 and over. All new colors and formations. We are selling one plant of each, twenty-five in all, for $250.00. A lot of extras will be included without charge, which are new this year, but will not score 85, and are better than many named varieties. This will save you a year and give you a wonderful profit.

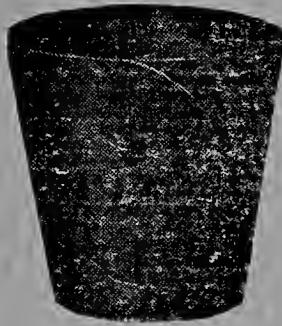

We reserve the right to name these and give color description during 1935. We will sell but one set in a given territory and to no one who does not promise to maintain our prices for two years, and not sell to cut-rate gardens.

The description of these new seedlings are very meager, as we had no intention of offering plants of our 1934 originations. Only twenty-five of each number will be sold, and three of each will be sent to the trial grounds.

We are agents for Neponset pots.

There has been a wonderful improvement in the construction and color of the Neponset pots.

They are a great deal more economical and plants grow and thrive one-third better than those planted in clay pots, and take up about one-half the space.

Send 20 cents in stamps for samples and convince yourself.
